

Your Personal Astrology Review

Your Personal Astrology Review

Astrological text and design by John Goble

*Enquiries and orders:
YourPersonalAstrologyReview.com
AstroquestAstrology.com*

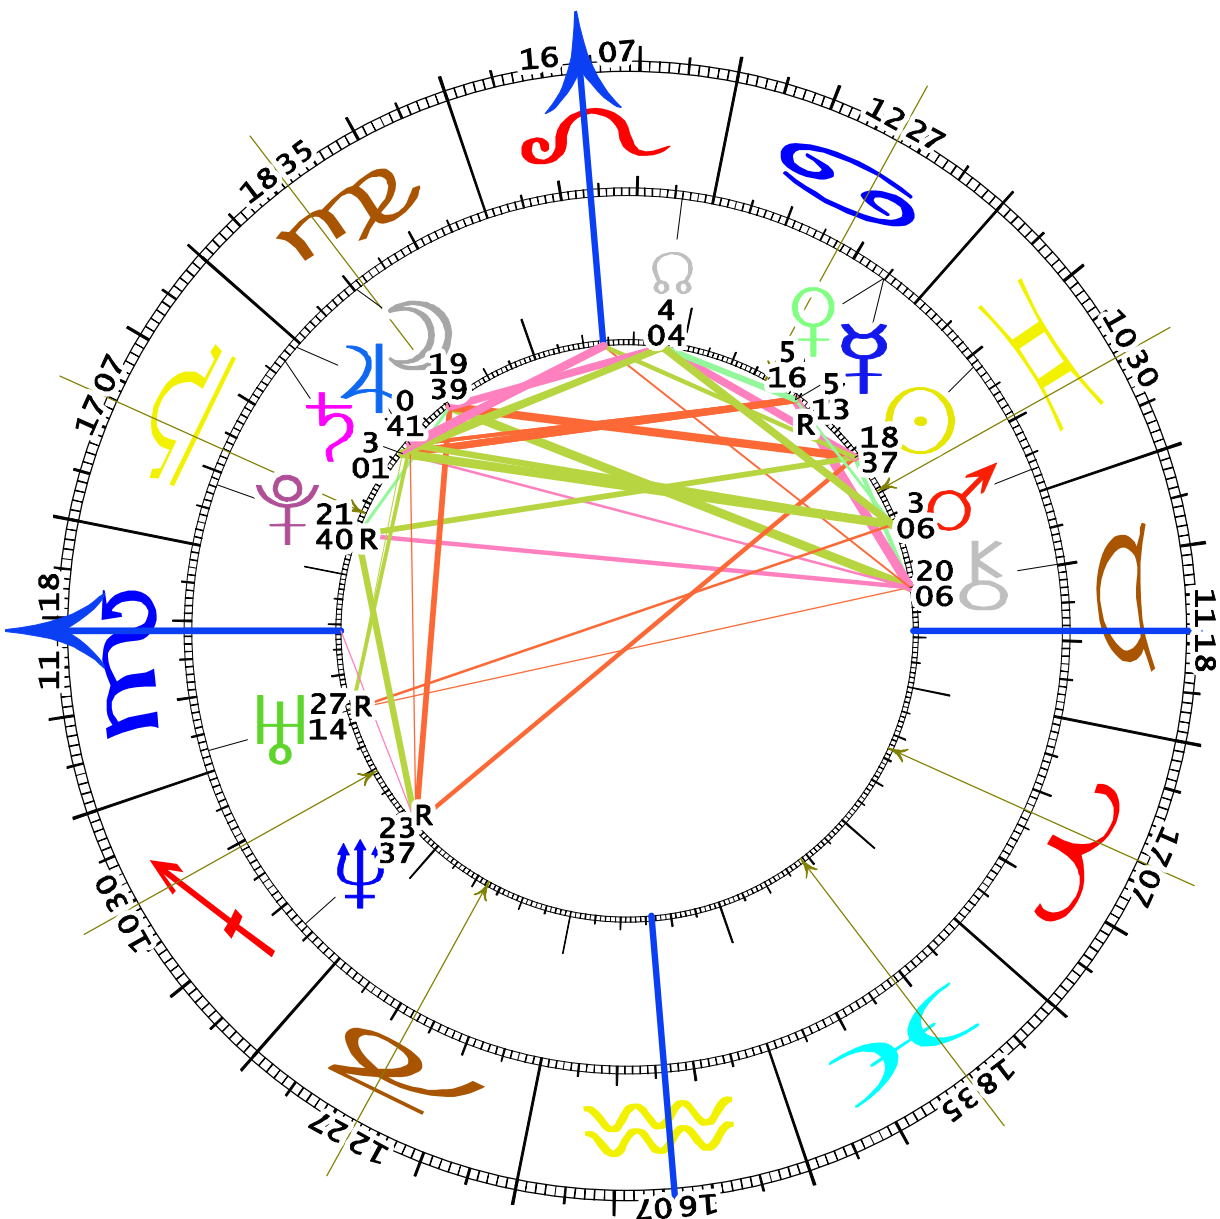

© John Goble 1993 ~ 2013, All rights reserved

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Radix1

Natalie Portman

Date:	9 Jun 1981 AD Tue	MC	16 07 ♈	☉	18 37 ♀	8
Time:	15 42 00	ASC	11 18 ♈	☾	19 39 ♈	11
Zone:	2 00 E auto-off	—	Plac —	♀	5 13 ♄	8
Latitude:	31 46 N	11.	18 35 ♈	♁	5 16 ♄	8
Longitude:	35 14 E	12.	17 07 ♈	♂	3 06 ♀	7
City:	Jerusalem > Yerush	3.	12 27 ♈	♃	0 41 ♄	11
				♅	3 01 ♄	11
				♁	27 14 ♈	1
		Ω	4 04 ♈ R	9	♁	23 37 ♈ R	2
		⊗	12 20 ♁	3	♁	21 40 ♄ R	12
					♂	20 06 ♄	7

Radix1: Natalie Portman 9 Jun 1981 AD Tue 15 42 00

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

YOUR PERSONAL ASTROLOGY REVIEW

Welcome to the ancient world of astrology, which combined with the latest computer technology will, no doubt delight and surprise you with the things you will learn about yourself in this brief Personality Review.

Sun sign astrology is fine as far as it goes, but it's a bit like reading the weather notes on page one of the newspaper, OK for what it is, a brief description, but if you really want to know what's going on you have to look at the weather map itself. You know, check out the fronts, the highs and lows, look at yesterday and today so that you can make sense of tomorrow. So, with that in mind, that's exactly what we are going to do now, look at your birth chart itself, a unique map of the heavens created for you and you alone at the exact time and place of your birth. So once you've checked the veracity of your birth data off we go. . .

Astrologically Natalie your vital statistics are:

9 Jun 1981 AD Tue 15 42 00 2 00 E auto-off 31 46 N 35 14 E

- * Sun in Gemini,
- * Moon in Virgo,
- * Scorpio Ascendant

These are the three most important parts of your birth chart. In terms of your life's path the Sun describes, your sense of identity and what you are striving to become, the Moon symbolises your feeling nature your emotional needs and where you feel most comfortable, and the Ascendant, or sign on the eastern horizon at the time of your birth, says much about both how others will see you, and you will see others, in terms of your social identity. The ascendant will reveal your projected self, if you like, your social personal or mask.

* * *

Gemini is the sign of the twins, the sign in which the solar journey reaches the stage at which life's different opinions are identified in order that they might acquire as broad a knowledge base as possible to satisfy their permanent state of intellectual curiosity. Gemini's are easily bored and so are always seeking fresh possibilities, which lead them to reveal new answers to old problems. They need constant mental challenge and will be most fulfilled in a sphere of work which allows them to make connections between differing spheres of knowledge.

Gemini also represents duality. Good comes into conflict with evil, gods battle with demons as conscious choices compete with unconscious instincts, sometimes all at the same time! This can cause Gemini's to be pulled between irreconcilables but on the other hand their strengths are their skill of resolving contradictions their flexibility, their razor like minds and incisive communication skills.

Versatile, changeable, curious, lively and clever, Gemini leads us into the realms of intellectual enquiry, curiosity and communication. You also have an insatiable curiosity and fascination for all things and especially your own mind, to such an extent that you listen to yourself thinking about yourself thinking. Absolutely everything interests you, so much that you can't spend much time at all on any one thing, tending to become rather bored rather quickly if you are forced to concentrate too deeply. You are constantly fascinated by the endless story of the endless human dilemma, people, their ideas their politics, their beliefs and their motivations.

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Words and language are your major vehicle for exploring these, so that you are articulate and quick. Your emotions, however, you prefer to keep somewhat at a distance, for too much emotion swamps the butterfly which is the true image of your soaring soul. Your need is to learn, to read to write to study, to develop your intellectual powers so that you can learn the names of all the things in the whole wide world and in turn teach others. Indeed T.S. Elliot might have been referring to Gemini when he said...

Where is the wisdom we have lost in knowledge

Where is the knowledge we have lost in information.

The house occupied by the Sun becomes very important in the chart. With the Sun on the Eighth House. You are very secretive, aware of all the deep and intense possibilities in life and are especially interested in the life cycle ~ from birth to death ~ of your fellow humans. There are a range of manifestations here: perhaps you will become a medium, occultist, therapist or healer; or enter the world of finance and business. All careers that provide opportunities for self-development, whether through inner exploration or the accumulation of wealth and power.

* * *

When the Moon is in Virgo the dynamics of your emotional life take place within a private arena and are kept very much to yourself. Consequently, you can be very shy, making it difficult for you to interact socially, possibly resulting in feeling a sense of isolation. This emotional solitude can bring a lack of confidence, and your natural desire is to remain withdrawn. so that to others you can seem rather cool and aloof, much more so than you feel. Artistic expression music, writing, craft therefore provide an important outlet for your personal expression. Your quality of feeling can be extraordinarily refined, almost to the extent of being over sophistication, making it perhaps further difficult for you to find a comfortable partnership.

Though you may love and care for someone a great deal, you rarely express those feelings openly and freely. Very often your love for someone will be expressed by trying to help them, doing something tangible to benefit them, or serving them in some way.

Beware of a tendency to be over analytical and critical this can be hard on those closest to you, rather need to learn to be gentler and less of a perfectionist with others and with yourself. Because you remain private in public, others often misjudge you as being aloof and detached, even cold. To be misunderstood is, for you, the lesser of two evils. You'd rather have it this way than reveal your inner nature to the masses, so to speak. Indeed, it's not just that your shyness prevents you from doing so, but you'd consider such public display distasteful.

The house occupied by the Moon becomes the focus for the expression of lunar qualities and aspirations: emotional needs and maternal qualities. When the Moon is in the Eleventh House you like to socialize in large groups in which you may often take a leading role. Political involvement is likely, especially in 'community politics'.

* * *

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Next we come to the Ascendant, or Rising Sign, which is the sign that was rising over the eastern horizon at the exact moment of your birth. The qualities of this sign imprint on the dawning consciousness of your individuality the qualities and energies of that particular moment in time, for the rest of your life.

Having a Scorpio Ascendant you are an intense, proud and emotional type of person disarmingly comfortable with the experience of the subtle world of feeling that allows you to penetrate beneath the surface of things and gain an understanding of unconscious motives, and feeling currents. You have the ability to feel all, the various levels of activity and interactions occurring simultaneously around you, but because of the watery nature of Scorpio these are not always easily understood with the rational mind. Extremely self protective you tend to be very wary of putting yourself forward personally. As a water sign you approach life which with fluidity, sensitivity, and with a tendency keep your personal feelings and opinions well hidden to all except the chosen few.

Very self-controlled, you express yourself only a little at a time, and often very fearfully, although you will never let anyone see this. There can be a paranoid obsession with self-preservation, and reluctance to let go of anything, be it emotions, money, or control. You also have the ability to impose your power and energy over situations in such a way as to be able to drastically alter them. You express yourself very powerfully, positively, and negatively, and, as with all the signs, your greatest strengths are also your greatest weaknesses, but more so. Most importantly you have a good sense of your own individuality which you come to rely on in the world which you perceive as a dangerous and potentially threatening place.

You like to be noticed, and are flattered when others single you out for praise or attention. Nevertheless, you also have an equal need at times to be retiring, and to withdraw into the safety of your own self-protection.

* * *

Well Natalie, so much for the Sun, Moon and Ascendant, now let's take a brief look at where in your birth chart all of the other planets are to be found, and a glimpse of how the sign of the zodiac in which they are placed will affect the way they express themselves and what gifts they bring. These qualities and attributes will describe the stuff the hero is made of and the personal traits and resources that he/she has to draw on as their quest unfolds before them.

This will include the house position which will indicate the area of life in which this will manifest.

More about you...

* Mercury seeks to understand and communicate very considerably in caring, feeling oriented and shy Cancer who remembers every nuanced detail of every memory and its associated feeling tone.

Further you are able to best apply your mind and are most stimulated when encountering life's deeper issues when Mercury is in the intense and secretive Eight House.

* Venus relates with sentimentality in sensitive, traditional and romantic ways in devoted

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Cancer where your yearning for deep and enduring emotional bonds can incline toward possessiveness.

You also value deep, intense emotional commitments in all your relationships when Venus is in the often possessive, sometimes jealous Eight House.

* Multi-skilled Mars can act with great versatility but can also be somewhat erratic, elusive and often restless in mercurial Gemini, even to the point of spreading yourself too thinly or taking on too much at any one time.

Sociable and outgoing when Mars is in the Seventh House you are additionally motivated and energised by others especially when in partnerships / relationships.

* Jupiter seeks to expand and renew faith in life socially in people minded Libra and like to think that you express this in a fairly balanced way ~ but how often are scales so perfectly poised?

Just as when Jupiter is in the Eleventh House an important source of growth and expansion for you will come through your social networks and groups.

* Saturn structures life with a great sense of balance in Libra while urgently needing to establish absolute definitions of right and wrong, although opportunities which may elude others often come to you overnight.

While when Saturn is in the Eleventh House circumstances will require you take responsibility for social circle, groups and friends which will be source of great learning.

* Uranus is impelled to take decisive action describing a need to break free of emotional, personal and social taboos, in order to achieve greater depth in relating to others in Scorpio.

So that when Uranus is in the First House you express enormous freedom and independence just being who you are.

* Neptune idealizes the future and the concept of a dawning New Age giving it a very humanitarian spiritual vision inclusive of all beliefs and ideals in intuitive, optimistic and ever hopeful Sagittarius.

Meanwhile with Neptune in the Second House you will be required to have faith in your personal resources for these will be an ongoing source of challenge, difficulty and perhaps confusion.

* Pluto belongs to a generation whose sense of survival depends upon creating new types of human relationship structures in social Libra, especially if they are rooted in inequality, including traditional marriages.

Finally, when Pluto is in the Twelfth House you will unswervingly and relentlessly experience enormous changes in how you connect to and experience trends beneath the surface of group consciousness which, throughout your life, will become a source of huge transformation. .

For a full description and detailed analysis of the meaning of the planets in all the signs and houses, as well as the Sun, Moon and Ascendant go to www.yourpersonastrologyreport.com

* * *

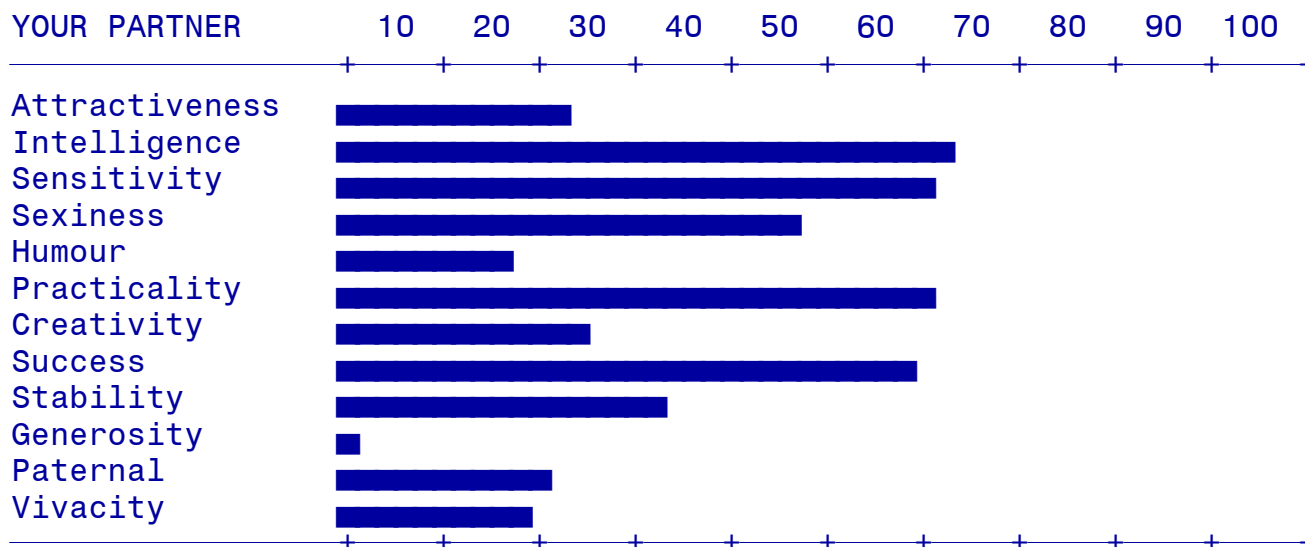

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Here we are going to get a bit technical because the following graphs were created by considering not only the positions of the Sun, Moon and planets, but also a vast array of other astrological factors including relative strengths in the signs and houses, aspects, rulerships, the elements and so on. All of which are then synthesized, according to the conventions of modern psychological astrology, in much the same way as an astrologer would, to arrive at the following, individual, if somewhat blunt and quirky, assessment of your personality.

Well if you thought that was weird (and many people do,) keep reading because in this section, Natalie we shall look in some detail at what you seek in a mate - you know, those things that really matter to you. Some of them you will no doubt recognize and agree with instantly, others might not be quite so visible, in fact if you are really honest, they may bring on a squirm or too. However, in my experience they are nonetheless relevant, and well worth considering.

The 'Other'...

To elaborate a little more your chart here is describing the inner image of the masculine that you carry within, that is your Mars energy, this is something that will be less conscious for you as a women so be wary of projecting it onto your menfolk or partners. On the other hand mates who embody these qualities will be experienced by you as attractive, powerful and desirable.

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Mars, when in the Element of Air, can be characterized by a mental restlessness which often tempers and refines the desire nature with a strong urge to cooperate with your partners and lovers.

The expression of your sexual energy however will tend to get filtered through your head, talking and sharing thoughts and ideas with your partner is important to you. You are sexually attracted to the kind of mate that you cannot pin down, a man who gives the impression of being wise, gifted or clever. A man that can try his hand at many different things. With you everything needs to be a communication of some sought, sex itself can become a type of dialogue, often there can be a great sense of playfulness about you. As far as the sex life is concerned, you are a lively, experimental partner who will enjoy a rewarding sex life from youth right through to old age. Your attitude towards sex is light-hearted: it is fun, and to be enjoyed. This placing tends to take some of the steamy passion out of this sphere of life, but you are nevertheless an energetic and often athletic lover, which in turn will help to keep your partner equally energetic, youthful, and athletic!

This will be further influenced by the house position of Mars which here further describes you as most motivated when in partnership and /or relationship.

* * *

On the other hand your chart also describes the image of the feminine carried within, and which equally needs to be expressed for you to feel worthy and attractive as an individual. It also symbolises your sense of the erotic and your erotic power, qualities which for you as a woman it is important to embody in order to feel sexually whole and fully feminine. Venus will represent your 'female ego' in that it symbolizes how you will give of yourself in love and sex. How you express affection, feel appreciated, how you give, desire and what you find beautiful. These can be expressed passionately, sensuously and extravagantly, but also with charm and great beauty.

These are qualities that you will elicit, either overtly or subtly, in the form of behaviour or gestures from others to support this confidence in yourself.

In matters of the heart Venus, when found in the Element of Water, seeks to dissolve individual barriers in order to experience a deep merging of both feelings and personalities.

As a woman you are more full of feelings than passionate, and passion or sex takes second place for you. First of all the human contact must be there, then you can be hot-blooded. Creating a family is important for you and your feeling of worth. Also, once your need for emotional security is satisfied, your sexual and emotional expression will be characterised by great feeling, sensitivity and subtlety. Even though you tend to be somewhat passive you are able to tune right into to your partner and know exactly what they feel, and then merge with this in quiet deep harmony. Above all you need to feel needed.

The house position of Venus further suggests that you value intense relationships and seem not to be able to avoid being drawn into them.

For a closer, more detailed look at all the various complex dynamics at work within a relationship, as well as your particular relationship needs, see www.yourastrologypersonalprofile.com

* * *

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

This introductory report only covers aspects or planetary relationships, if any, that are "exact," that is, within one degree. For a closer more detailed look at all the various interactions between the planets and how they are likely to play out in your life as challenges, impediments, spurs and boons to growth and life see, www.yourastrologypersonalprofile.com

Aspects ~ boons and challenges

This report will now isolate and examine some of the most important aspects in your chart. In lay terms these are the dynamics caused by the angular relationships between particular planets. Only the strongest of these have been listed here, a full interpretation of all aspects and how they will fit together within the context of your life can be found in the Personal Profile available from www.YourAstrologyPersonalProfile.com The following aspects will however be so strong as to be very easily identifiable and recognizable as the source of major difficulty or strength in your life and relationships, as the case may be.

* Sun Square Moon

With this aspect you will experience your conscious (Sun) behaviour in conflict with your more emotional needs and dispositions, (Moon). In particular what you need to feel secure. The ongoing tension means that both can never be satisfied at the same time, one is always being expressed to the exclusion of the other.

This can also manifest as vacillation from one set of needs being expressed to the other, as a result this can lead to in things in your life being incomplete or improperly completed along with your often changing imperatives.

Another expression of this conflict can be experienced via the life partner. Since the Sun can also represent what you as a woman sees and is looking for in a man then your partner can be experienced as someone who frustrates in some way, and can not understand, your more emotional, soulful inner needs and inner life and its expression. This conflict can touch upon ones core feelings of acceptance and can be difficult.

This can result in frequently fluctuating moods which can often make others feel that being in your presence is like walking on soft-boiled eggs. Your feelings are like finely tuned antennae, picking up the slightest nuance and suggestion, and this can make you moody. Nevertheless, you're far too aware to allow moodiness to tyrannise your relationships - but you sure as hell are one emotional person!

For a fully comprehensive and synthesized description all the planetary interactions, or aspects, within your chart go to www.yourpersonlastrologyreport.com

Transits ~ the time of your life

Transits for Natalie for the month of...

Feb	2013	1	5	10	15	20	25	30
-----	------	---	---	----	----	----	----	----

♃♂ ASC

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

This graph shows only some (if any) of the most significant transits that are occurring in your life right now, for this month. "Transiting" planets are planets which in their present position form a particular relationship to the planetary positions at your birth time. Over time differing angles are constantly created between these two, in astrological language these angles are called "Aspects".

Sometimes these will repeat several times over one or even two years. Except for the immediacy of Mars' transits these transiting aspects may have an influence either side of the printed time span, for full details of all your transits for a 12 month period can be obtained from www.YourPersonalForecaster.com Although the ones below are major right now and will certainly not pass unnoticed.

If the graph is empty it is because there are no major transits this month.

For more detailed information about all the interrelationships between the planets in your chart and their continuing traverse of the night sky over the next twelve months go to www.yourastrologyforecaster.com The text of this report is unique because it not only describes how the various transits will manifest in different ways according to the planetary placements in the original horoscope, but also takes into account your gender, age and stage in life.

* * *

From about: 1 Feb 2013 to about: 16 Feb 2013

* Transiting Uranus is square your natal Venus ~ change for changes sake.

Venus presides over the creation of beauty, harmony and pleasure. Positively, Venus may be experienced as love, sharing, the give and take with others. Venus also represents a potent feminine anima principle and her love is erotic love rooted in sensual pleasure and aesthetic delight unconcerned with social mores. While the nature of Uranus has an exciting, awakening effect, bringing disruption, individualism, originality, experimentation and extremes. Uranus symbolises instability with insights erupting from below the threshold of normal conscious awareness.

When Uranus and Venus aspect by transit, what is being challenged are relationships, creativity and values. While at the same time the pace of your life is speeding up, new friends, new venues, new experiences such that you may well experience peculiarities in your love life, by letting your emotions go to extremes. Your chart reflects a certain restlessness within you right now with regard to your relationships. Your standards are very high and any dissatisfaction that you have been sitting on or rationalising away will brim to the surface with disconcerting rapidity, leaving it extremely hard for your partner to measure up. For your attitudes about love and relationship are undergoing profound changes, especially those inherited from family background, which may be subjected to sudden shifts and feelings of uncertainty, which cause tension and anxiety in longstanding ties. Changes or separations initiated by others around this time may reflect a deep but unacknowledged desire for greater freedom.

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

There may also be moodiness, a roving eye and a restless desire for more independence within your heart. You may well meet someone new and fascinating at this time, someone with a spiritedly independent streak who will inspire you and infuse you with a sense of possibility and change. This, however, is a challenging transit, so beware that you don't wind up feeling let down when it all passes, or make rash decisions in the spirit of the moment that you live to regret.

Nervousness, due to repressed desires, could cause trouble for you or your family. If you do not sort out any emotional problems that have been concerning you recently, they may be solved for you and you may not enjoy the conclusion, unless you act in a positive way, for Uranus transits can have the unerring knack of happening to you, if you ignore them or decline their invitation to greater possibility and authenticity. Uranus has been called the awakener, but these awakenings are not always pleasant.

* * *

From about: 1 Feb 2013 to about: 15 Feb 2013

* Transiting Uranus is square your natal Mercury ~ radically new and different.

There is something electric about this meeting of the gods.

The nature of Uranus has an exciting, uprooting, and awakening effect, bringing disruption, revolution, individualism, originality, experimentation and extremes. Uranus symbolises instability, erratic action and disengagement from inessentials; it makes intuitive leaps that activate flashes of insight from below the threshold of normal conscious awareness. While the star Mercury (Hermes to the Greeks) was known as the Messenger of the Gods, ruling the unexpected, luck, coincidences and synchronous happenings, introducing fluidity, motion, new beginnings and the confusion that almost always precedes them.

Uranus speeds things up, disrupting the status quo in such a way as to hasten change; in fact, things may happen so fast as to be a source of confusion to the point of nervous tension where you feel mentally hyper! Try to put off important decisions for now, try to be more flexible, and if you can, slow down long enough to listen to what others have to say.

You may feel disturbed because of confused and incorrect behaviour around you. You may experience trouble through others' deceit. There may be an unintentional divulging of secrets, either yours or others', or some hidden information which would change the situation either at work or home, were it to be known. This is not a good time to sign contracts or agreements, as hidden factors may be in operation. Similarly, take care not to be impulsive, right now communication in general is confused; misunderstandings may very easily occur. This is an excellent time for networking, making new contacts and expanding your circle, but not necessarily for making commitments; put them off for now if you can.

Travelling at this time is also not the best idea, bringing too many unexpected surprises to be enjoyable, and it's hardly relaxing. This is, however, an excellent time to pursue a new study, Uranus rules both metaphysics and technology, or you may find a cause to speak (or proselytise) for. Take care to remain in touch with reality and not get too drawn to the fringes.

* * *

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

From about: 1 Feb 2013 to about: 3 Mar 2013

* Transiting Saturn is conjunct your natal Ascendant ~ finishing up and birthing the new.

The Ascendant is a point associated with new beginnings, and this transit will bring with it the experience of a new way of life opening up for you. Saturn, however, can be a conservative tyrant and accepts the new only grudgingly, which will make this a testing time when you will feel the weight of all your responsibilities.

Nonetheless, this will be an exciting time for you, if you are thinking of studying or going into anything new. Older people will give you sound advice; if you listen to it, lasting success could come your way in the near future. Remember that this is one of the most significant periods of your life. During this time, your responsibilities will increase considerably, and you will try to eliminate everything that you feel is a burden to you. This will make your life more complex and yet simpler at the same time. You now have to learn to cut some elements of your life and work harder to complete others.

You will now be going through a period that will bring about changes, either good or bad; this depends upon your attitude, and how you have acted up to now in your life. Spiritual matters or the occult will also have a bearing on how you relate to these changes. You will also experience a lot of travelling, either materially or spiritually. Your own sixth sense will develop very quickly in this period of your life, so listen to your instincts.

The Ascendant is a very active point of the chart and relates to you, very personally, immediately and independently, doing your own thing. Saturn in the First House signifies a time of "getting it together" and is often a peak time in terms of new beginnings and of effort. As such, it can be experienced as a time of seriousness in that the first impulse often comes from the experience that things need improving. It is a time of making long-term decisions, often these will involve new beginnings, and of establishing structures that will set the tone for the two and a half or so years that Saturn is in the First House. Saturn is in each House for around two and a half years, and so these pursuits will characterise much of this time.

Right now then is a time to consolidate all that you have been striving for. This is a potentially rewarding time, when the fruits of your past efforts to express truly live and express your individuality can be seen. But the key to getting the best from this transit lies in a willingness to define one's values, needs, goals and expectations from others.

This is also a time of profound maturation, when you may be called upon to stand behind your convictions and endure feelings of loneliness. Realisations of past dependency and passivity can help to build a greater sense of self-sufficiency.

The timing of Saturn's transits to both the MC and Ascendant are totally dependent on the accuracy of your birth time. An error of only a few minutes can make a significant difference, so if your birth time is speculative, or doubtful, this will impact on the timing of these influences.

* * *

From about: 2 Feb 2013 to about: 3 Mar 2013

Neptune is square your natal Mars ~ loss of identity and purpose.

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Mars is the embodiment of war and strife, the restless and turbulent lover, thriving on contact and affirming his existence through physical contact, rejoicing in the delights of both battle and bed. In short, Mars wants, gets and does. Neptune, on the other hand, tends to obscure and undermine, lost in the vague yearnings, formless dreams and unreachable, ineffable longings that arise from the watery, feeling depths; such that these times are often felt to be confusing periods of uncertainty and lethargy. However, Neptune also attunes a person to intangibles, and you will need a real effort if you are to find your way out of the Neptunian malaise that may threaten to engulf you.

A more indepth, detailed look at all your transits over the next twelve months and their place within your life cycle, can be found in www.yourastrologyforecaster.com. Anticipating and understanding the meaning of the demands the time ahead enables you to flow more consciously, creatively and purposefully through the cycles of your life. To experience that there is indeed "a time for everything."

Last words for the journey

All Astroquest Personal Horoscopes are written with the understanding that each one of us is on our own unique and special journey, and that Astrology can offer us very personal and specific insights into the nature of that journey and how we might more purposefully participate in its unfolding.

Astroquest is committed to making astrology meaningful and personal. This Review is a unique blend of the lighter insights offered by psychological astrology together with advanced computer programming. The Astroquest Personal Profile (www.yourastrologypersonalprofile.com) however provides serious in-depth, psychological interpretations that balance and synthesise all your specific chart factors, including age and gender, to create an individual, highly personal document that is written for you and you alone. Deeper, and more detailed and in many ways challenging, it contains totally different content as well as links to relevant stories and articles that further amplify the symbols being explored.

Presented in terms of the Hero's Journey, the Your Astrology Personal Profile is a rich and full description of the pattern of your Hero Quest, as revealed by astrological symbolism, and of the challenges and treasures to be encountered along the way.

An invaluable introduction to astrology, Your Personal Astrology Review can be ordered on its own or upgraded to a full report (www.yourastrologypersonalprofile.com). This report of over 25,000 words is a detailed analysis of every aspect of your character and personality. Containing totally different material, from early childhood on, it describe what you have made of you life, why you are as you are, and how to make it more. It is adocument that your will read, ponder and refer back to many times. You can read what others have had to say at <http://astroquestastrology.com/testimonials/>

Also available is Your Astrology Forecaster (www.yourastrologyforecaster.com), an in-depth look at what is happening now and, following the cycles of the planets, the flavour of the challenges and the promise of the next twelve months.

In conclusion I will leave this little story for you to reflect on...

The Hasidic rabbi, Susya, shortly before his death said "When I get to heaven, they will not ask me, Why were you not Moses? Instead they will ask, Why were you not Susya? Why did you not become what only you could become?"

Your Astroquest Astrology Report

Modern life can be so hectic that we often find ourselves pulled "off centre" and out of connection, both with what we are, and with what we might truly become. Astrology is a powerful tool that can get us back in touch with those deeper aspects of our being. Thank you.

 With the compliments of Astroquest Astrology ***

PO Box 802 Castelmaine, 3450 Vic. Australia

Email: john@astroquestastrology.com

Stay in touch on Facebook

<http://www.facebook.com/AstroquestAstrology>

or visit

<http://astroquestastrology.com>

Copyright John Goble

* * * * *